CONSTITUTION OF THE
STUDENTS ORGANIZATION OF THE TECHNICAL UNIVERSITY OF KENYA

2016
FOREWORD

The Students’ Organization of the Technical University of Kenya (SOTUK) has created a positive impact to the institution. The students were guided by a standard formulated constitution that directed the democratic governance of their official responsibilities, and having come of age, the constitution was due for review to keep in tune with the conventional management of students’ organizations and tenets of leadership.

The new students’ constitution promises a revival for students’ leadership at the Technical University of Kenya. The constitution was reviewed under the guidance of a committee whose membership comprised eight members of staff and thirty students’ representatives. The representatives were nominated directly by the students to present their various interests. The University Council approved the constitution and subsequently the Vice Chancellor promulgated the Constitution, in the presence of students, on 2016 in the Main Hall.

Our special gratitude goes to the following members of staff and students for their contributions towards the success of this review.
